

Quadis Technologies merging with Summit Group Software, Inc.

West Fargo, ND – February 1, 2012

Summit Group Software, Inc. and Quadis Technologies, Inc. have merged. The combined companies employ approximately 40 people and service over 500 customers throughout the United States and Canada. Quadis Technologies will operate as a subsidiary of Summit Group Software.

Summit Group Software is based in West Fargo, ND. Quadis Technologies is headquartered out of Lincoln, NE, with an additional office in Sioux City, IA. Both Quadis Technologies and Summit Group Software provide consulting services for enterprise resource planning and customer relationship management applications based on Microsoft Dynamics products.

“An important aspect of this merger is that the leadership of both companies will remain,” said Eric Gjerdevig, President of Summit Group Software. “Both of us have a very strong business that together, is made even stronger. In addition, our customers will benefit from the deep resources and skills of this combined team.”

“We have worked together for a number of years and are excited to join our teams,” said Paul Johnson, President of Quadis Technologies. “We share a lot of the same long term goals, philosophies, and have very similar cultures. While each organization has seen strong growth, combining forces provides our clients and employees additional opportunities.”

For more information on either company please visit www.summitgroupsoftware.com or www.quadistech.com.